Are you looking for a product that is only available in aluminium, for example, but you require it in electro-polished chromium steel for design reasons? TROX HESCO Schweiz AG can now offer a solution for this type of requirement: powder coating to give a chrome look.

Many customers know the situation: the product suitable for the application can only be manufactured in aluminium. From an architectural perspective, however, the design is required in electro-polished chromium steel. Up to now there has been no satisfactory alternative available.

However, TROX HESCO Schweiz AG now has the solution at the ready: powder coating to give a chromium steel look, which can be used for various products and materials. Just ask us.
